A Spark

On August 29, 1983 a new year was set aflame at East Rutherford High School. With a burst of energy and excitement the students rekindled the fires of learning.

A Spark of Class! According to Webster's Collegiate Dictionary, class is defined as: "1. a course of instruction, 2. a body of students whose year of graduation is the same; 3. quality." These types of class are definitely prevalent at East. We have 109 different levels and types of courses held daily ranging from academic courses like English and history to miscellaneous electives. At our school the freshmen, sophomores, juniors, and senior classes are constantly involved in maintaining the "classiness' of style in both actions and clothing. We show our "class" by showing consideration and respect for others.

Mr. Lancer

Knowledge: "(nol ij), n. A result or product of knowing; that which is known. Specif: 1) Any fact or truth or fact, or the aggregate of facts, truths, and principles, known, acquired or retained by the mind." Funk and Wagner's New Standard Dictionary.

The freshmen or "new kids in town" come to East Rutherford High School expecting to find clubs, pep rallies, and other things under the heading of "high school fun", but we find these things and more. We also find new things to learn, such as the number of lives of Mrs. Proctor's Advanced Biology cats; the anatomy and cardiovascular system of frogs; analytical proofs and geometical theoroms; how to make character screens in computer science; the facts behind the Salem witch trials of 1692; our nation's development and crisises; as well as numerous other aspects of higher intellectual thinking such as fallacies and logistics.

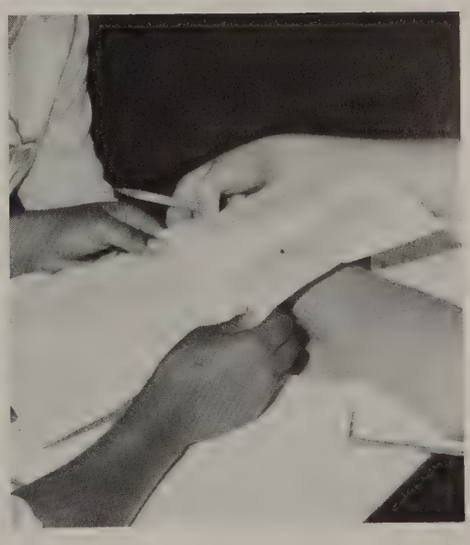
Kindles The

After a while when papers, assignments and deadlines seem to pile up, we often seem to ponder, "Why Me?" But when that last test is completed, that last paper completed, we hear a sigh of relief. As soon as we gain enough knowledge to survive "life after high school!", we think about the fun and good times that were had. But then isn't that what high school is all about?

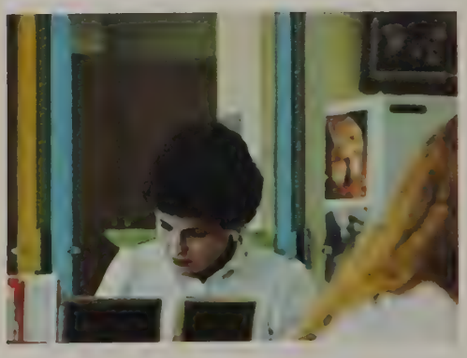
We find classes to be interesting, entertaining, humorous, provacative, or dull depending upon our mood for the day, the teacher for the course, or attitude toward the subject and the classmates surrounding us. Teachers are a chief complaint, but we must also be thankful that they care about us and go to the trouble they do to help us acquire new knowledge.

Knowledge comes in many facets and disguises. Each day some new information is gained even though we may not be aware that we are smarter than the day before.

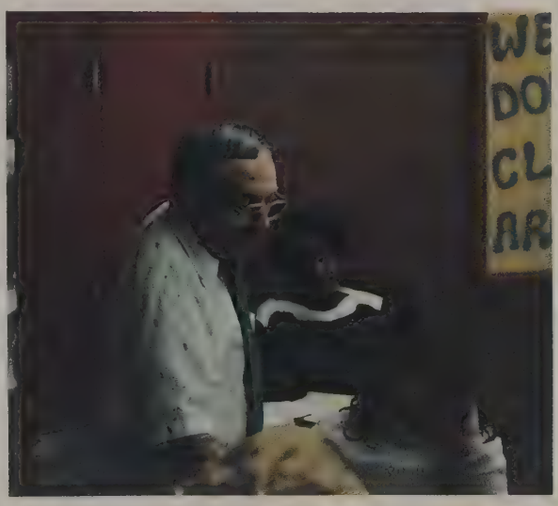
Flame Of Knowledge

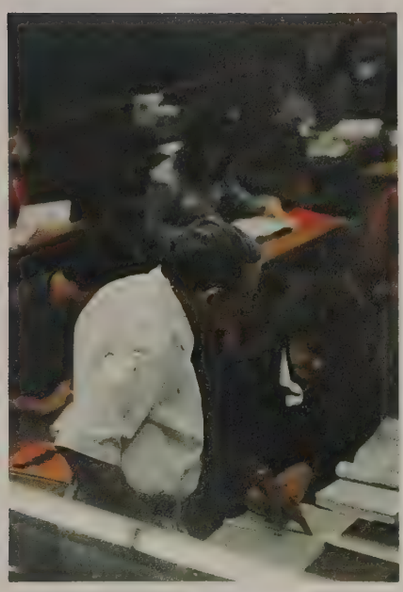


Streaking Toward



Teachers at East have many jobs they must do, more than just teach, in fact some of the jobs the teachers do are more tedious than teaching. Let me tell you what a few of these little jobs are: Mr. Gettys makes sure there is no speeding in the parking lot; Coach Shepard can always be found on D-hall during lunch giving good advice; Mrs. Moss seems to be the only teacher at East who doesn't take a break, and she's only a substitute; When Mrs. Jernigan is not instructing P.E., you can find her practicing for her acting career; Mrs. Hastings does not work as hard as it seems, she really has a magazine on her desk; And we all know teachers have to eat to keep up with all the jobs that must be done.





Excellence

For the 1983-1984 year the senior class chose to dedicate our annual to Mr. Joseph Victor Jones. He began teaching in 1956 at Ellenboro High School. With outstanding qualities, especially understanding and compassion, he has become an avid outdoorsman and a great teacher. He has co-ordinated the Sr. activities for a number of years. His wife's name is Rachel and he has a son namd Kelly. For his dedication and service, we, the senior class, dedicate our annual to him.

Igniting Friendships

Each year challenges a different horizon in experiencing new friendships. There are many ways to introduce the new acquaintances, for example: While shoving your way through the halls you may bump into someone you have yet to meet. On the arrival of the new role call you listen for names which you have not heard before, as the year progresses you match faces with the new names. Friendships may also arise over a typical daily conversation inside the crowded cafeteria while eating lunch. The friendships you experience during your years at East Rutherford will remain with you throughout the rest of your life.

Fashions at East range from leg warmers over jeans, under jeans, over tights, for warmth, for decoration and for fun, to the punk look which is still "in". The local punksters are in style with their short colored hair, miniskirts, tights, and ballerina slippers. Belts were an addition to 1983-1984 style ranging from wide color coordinated sashes to the old narrow standards. Gaushos, or split skirts, returned from the early days of the '70's style with the add-a-bead necklaces remaining a popular accessory.

Class rings are always in style, especially the junior year. Rings came in all shapes and sizes, stone colors and metals. Rings represent to us completion of school, our alma mater, exchanges of love as well as the expense of high school.

A Flash

Flashes of excitement are seen at pep rallies as we gather to cheer our athletes, have fun and burn energy. The band, the noise, the color and the cheerleaders always help to ease the tension of a routine school day. When one goes to junior high one doesn't expect the true life of high school. When finally at East, new friends are met and life-long friendships are established.

High school can be the most exciting time of our lives, so we should make the best of our days spent here and grab all the flashes of excitement available.

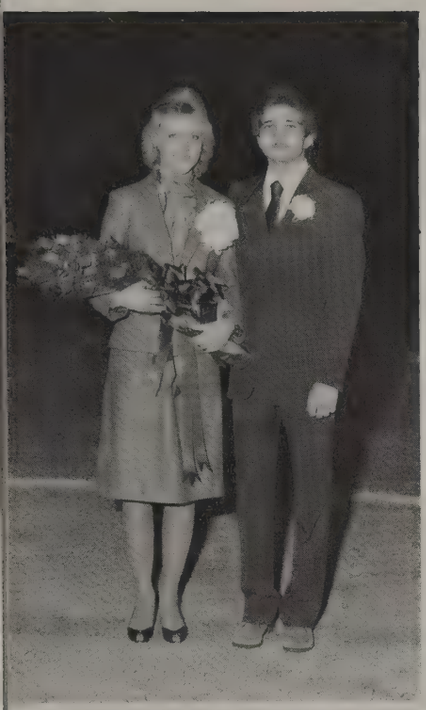
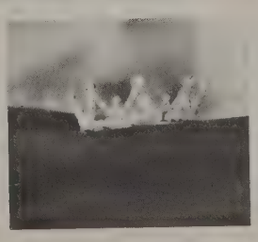
Student Council Clowns Around

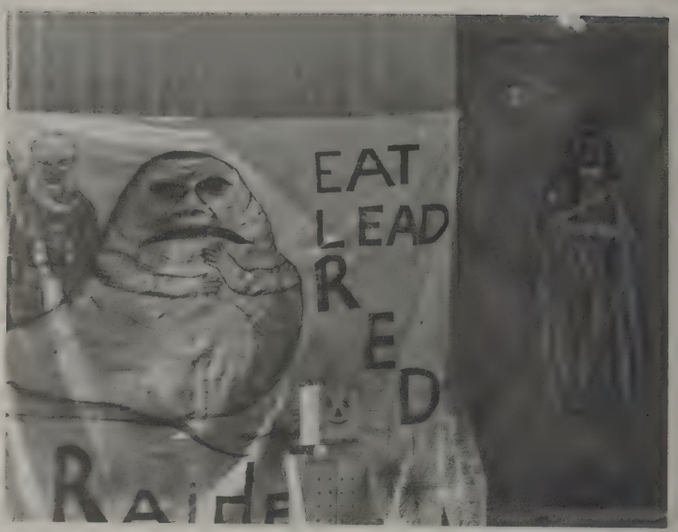
A Proud Moment . . .



Lisa Luckadee was elected as our first Cavalier Queen. Lisa is a varsity basketball and football cheerleader, a member of the Pep Club, serves on the Spirit Committee in the Student Council, as well as other school involvement which helped her gain her title after a majority vote of the student body.

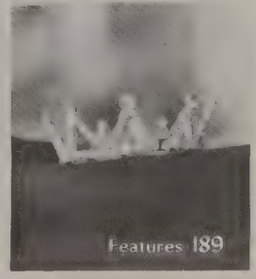


Cheerleaders Add Spice . . .



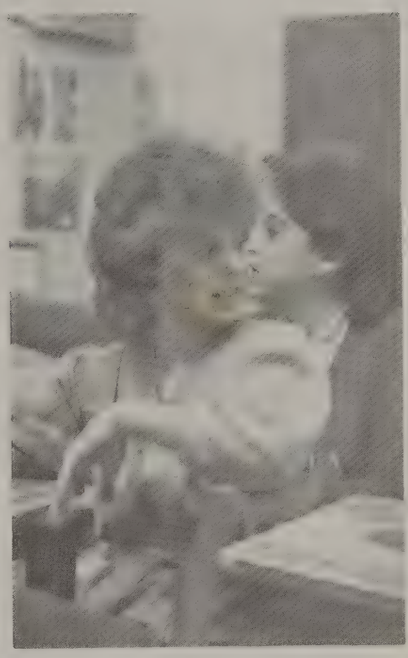
Dance, Dance, Dance . . .

Homecoming week — A week of excitement at East — provided entertainment, laughs, beauty, spirit and showed artistic and creative talents. The varsity cheerleaders sponsored the annual spirit chain contest between the homerooms, Mrs. Cremer's homeroom won first place and were awarded a two hour party. Second place winner was Mr. Wright's homeroom. The Decorate-A-Door contest, sponsored by the Student Council, was won by the Science-Fiction club. Judged on the basis of creativity and theme, their door (or entire side of mobile unit 2) featured Star Wars; second place "Picture the Raiders Dead" was created by the Lancer Staff. The assembly program featured skits performed by the Pep Club and the Leo Club as well as introducing the nominees for Cavalier Queen and the homecoming contest. Friday was quite a day. Many students needed a lot of extra time to get ready for the parade, pre-game and half-time ceremonies. This was one moment where students involved in activities were legally excuded from classes for the afternoon. Finally, the climax of the week occured when the queens were announced: Pregame show — Cavalier Queen — Lisa Luckadee; half-time show — Homecoming Queen — Susan Jenkins. Many students enjoyed the music of Castle at the annual homecoming dance sponsored by the civitans and the history club.

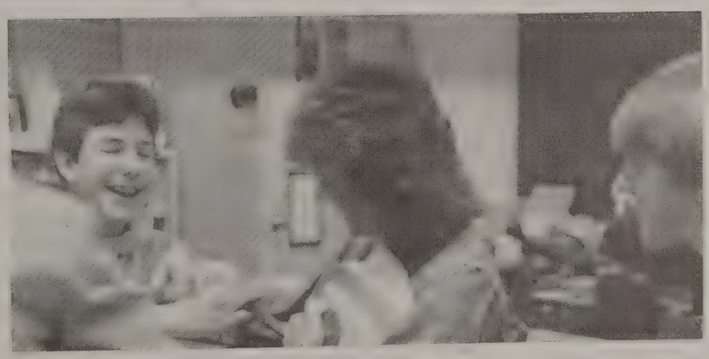


We've Got Tonight . . .

Let's Make It Last . . .



"The Senior Class Sponsor is Susan Jenkins. She is escorted by Rusty Millwood. Susan's most embarrasing moment was when someone told her Rusty was in Burger King with another girl. She got in her car and drove by Burger King. While staring in the window at Rusty, she hit the car in front of her. Everyone inside exploded with laughter . . . And the 1983-84 Homecoming Queen is Susan Jenkins."



News

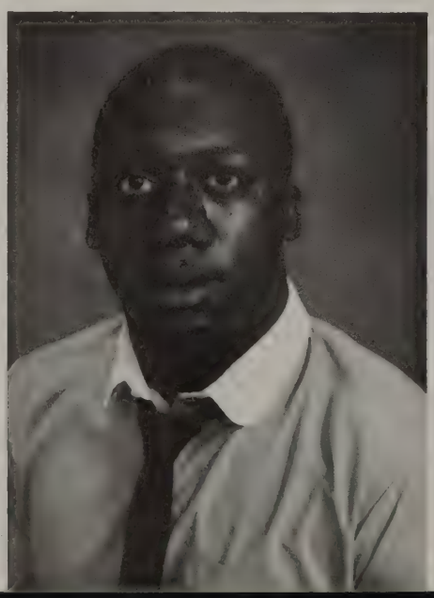
Dr. Sally K. Ride, 32, zipped up into deep space to become America's first woman in orbit. Whether copping z's in zero-G or testing Challenger's robot arm to control a scientific satellite, the physicist demonstrated plenty of the right stuff.

Quick as a wink, there she was. Vanessa Williams, 20, the 56th Miss America and the pageant's first black titleholder. A Syracuse University junior, Williams said briefly: "They chose me because they thought I could do the job." ◆



Sorry! William McEntire

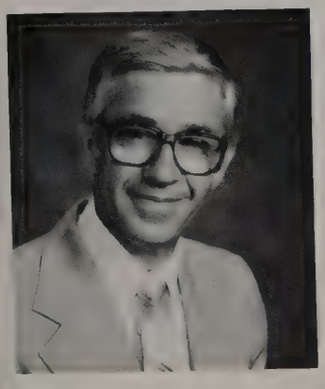
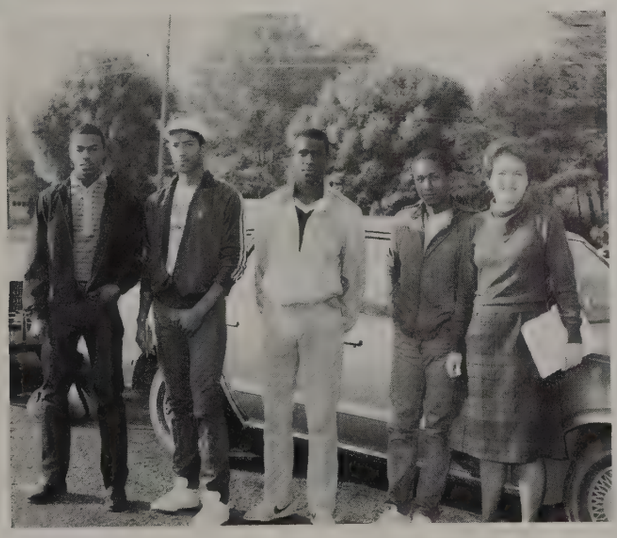
Student Life



Sam Metcalf works with Dr. Blanton and Clarence Campbell in the Cooperative Program. They work with the underprivileged.

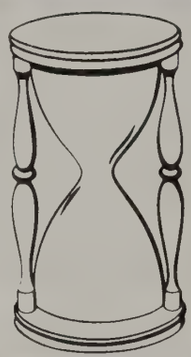


A new program has been started at East High. This program is called Dropout Prevention/Job Placement. It is a program funded through the Job Training and Partnership Act to aid students in gaining employability skills as well as skills to complete their high school education. The major emphasis is being placed on (1) preventing students from dropping out of school and (2) placing students in full time or part-time jobs.

The students eligible to participate in the program are economically disadvantaged youth who are 14-21 years of age. The target groups of participants are high school seniors, juniors, sophomores, and freshmen (in that order) experiencing academic difficulty, financial problems, or other school adjustment problems that relate to services offered by the program.

Some of the areas covered by the Dropout Prevention/Job Placement Program are: Gaining Pre-Employment Skills; Job Search Assistance; Career Exploration; Academic Assistance; and Counseling

Crutches And Casts



Only Time Will Heal Our Wounds

East Rutherford General Hospital patients were entirely "fed up" before their casts were due to come off and their crutches were retired. Cruthes handicapped these patient-students from carrying on their regular school activities. Four of those wounded were members of the band and could not march.

List of injured: Lynn Hoppes, Theresa Ray, Michael Prince, Renee Wright, Tonya Guffey, Daphne Goforth, Jill McSwain

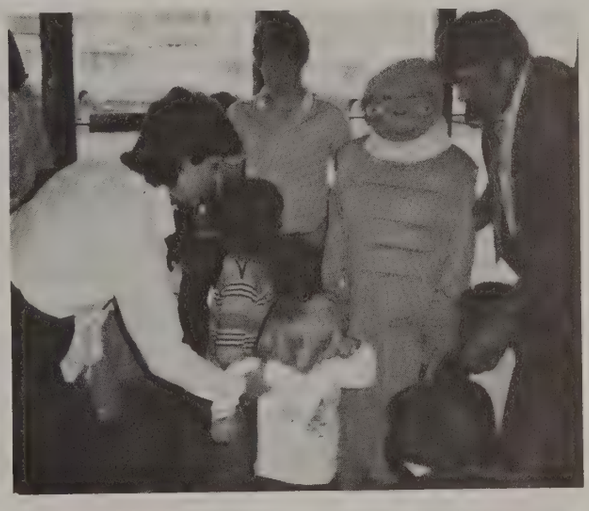
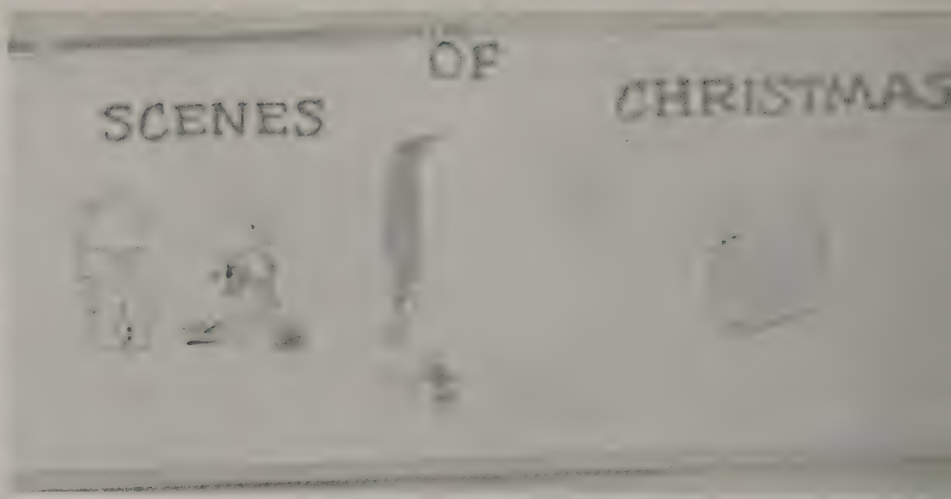
Our community was benefited by achievements and activities from various East students and teachers. Some of the involvement shown were: Michael Bailey dresses as E.T. for publicity for Cinema I & II. Mrs. Nantz - East Drama coach and chorus director stars in local stage productions. Allen Gillikin won award for his 3-way lamp from a meter box base.



East Key Club Helps With Lights Of Love



The spirit of Christmas was plentiful at East this year. Clubs, faculty, and students displayed their interests in the holidays in several different ways. The Spanish classes made pinatas, a Mexican tradition. The French classes made French Christmas cards and hung them on Mrs. Brantley's bulletin boards. The office displayed a tree decorated by the F.H.A. to brighten the halls of East.

Club such as the Keywanettes, Key Club, Jr. Civitans, Civinettes, and the Student Council pulled together to help needy families at Christmas. The Keywanettes played the Civinettes in a volleyball game and the Key Club played the Jr. Civitans in a basketball game. Admission to the games was a can of food.
